Texan Dudes Line Dancing

August 2017 Wanted Poster

Hi everyone,

Are you as confused as me?

Summer is here one minute and gone the next and then back again.

Steaming hot one day, blowing a gale the next. One day it's hot enough to fry an egg on the sun lounger and the next we have a deluge of rain.

It's so confusing ! Now where did I put my sun tan lotion and my sou'wester?

Anyway enough of that confusion lets move on to more confusion.

The Next Dance Date

Our next dance is provisionally booked for Saturday 16th September 2017 when we make a return to Friern Barnet School.

We are sorry to put a question mark over the date but it can't be helped. There are a number of appointments we have at the start of August which may affect our planning but we are hopeful it won't. In the mean time, make sure the date is in your diary and we will confirm the date as soon as we can.

We had planned to hold our next dance during August, which would have been nice, but it wasn't possible. When we went to book the hall we were told that the school was having building work undertaken which made an August booking a non starter.

Important Holiday Dates and Class Cancellations

By the time mid August arrives we should have a better understanding of where we are with regard to class cancellations.

You should also know that we hope to take a week's holiday in September but can't book anything until we have had those important August appointments. At the moment the classes which we are sure are cancelled are:-

Monday Evening Classes:-

14th August 2017 and

28th August '17 (Bank Holiday)

Tuesday Morning Classes

Four Weeks of August

8th, 15th, 22nd, & 29th. (Return 5th Sept.)

It may be necessary to let you have a 'supplement' newsletter when we find out exactly what we are doing. In the meantime get those dates in your diary.

Harlow Town Park

Country Music In The Park

Sunday 13th August 2017 – Its Free !

11.00am to 6.00pm (Approx)

The country music show is back again this year. As always there are a number of great acts for you to see and an area for line dancing. Trade stalls and a bar should you need anything. Hopefully the sun will shine. Remember to take along a fold up chair and lots to eat and drink. (Maybe a brolly!)

Directions: From M11 follow A414 on to Edinburgh Way, Take the second exit at the next two roundabouts. The car park is off the next roundabout leading to Harlow Town Station CM20 2JE.

Christmas Lunch Date

Yes, I know it seems a tad early but Rita has asked me to let you know that the usual festive lunch has been set for Friday 8th December '17 at Halsey Hall, Cheshunt.

Alzheimer's Society Raffle - A 'BIG' Thank you to all the 'Spotlight' dancers who helped raise £220.00 for this very worthy cause.

Youtube Fame For You

We decided to add even more of your dancing skills to those already on Youtube.

We thought it was about time so we have posted a couple more videos of the Texan Dudes line dancers on Youtube.

If you want to view them go to Youtube and type in 'Texan Dudes Line Dancing' and you may catch a glimpse of yourself.

Bubba Gump Restaurant

Having made our spectacular debut on the West End stage our return was stopped in its tracks.

We were looking forward to returning at the end of July when we got the telephone call saying we had been cancelled.

Apparently the event company who arranged our booking had been taken over and our contribution to the world of West End dance had been put on hold. Something to do with the new company not holding a licence to do such 'live' events.

Will we be back? Only time will tell but I refuse to go chasing Simon Cowell, he knows where I am if he wants me !

Ghostly Line Dancers

During a month we will receive a lot of telephone calls and emails from people wanting to come line dancing.

Most will want a beginners class to start themselves on the road to our beloved past time. Unfortunately, at this moment in time, we haven't got a beginners class.

We will usually pass on details of Joanna's beginner's class or Val Myers to set them on their way.

The strange thing is that when we do have a beginner's class, and tell them all about it, most never turn up? It is very weird that someone who phones, sounds incredibly keen, can't wait to get started, spends perhaps half an hour talking to you about class, never shows! Spooky or what!

Summer Holidays

Have you been? Are you going? What are your plans for a relaxing summer break?

Schools have broken up for six weeks so that means no traffic hold ups as the roads are relatively empty.

A number of classes, be they line dancing or anything for that matter, are cancelled during the month of August. This is usually because the numbers fall dramatically when families are away. We have never 'broken up' for the school holidays but as you can see for this year there may be a few cancellations.

School holidays usually mean that a quiet dinner out with your loved one may take a little more planning. There are a lot more family meals out at this time and may result in a little more noise in your favourite restaurant.

One place to avoid at all costs during this six week period is IKEA. This is a favourite haunt of every parent or grand parent who is struggling to find somewhere to take their child or grandchild. It is a place where they can safely let their child lose on all the unsuspecting shoppers.

Once the child's appetite has been quenched on the play area of slides, plastic ball pit, climbing frame and rope ladders they are let lose in the general store. This is the perfect area for children to unwind. Hide and seek in cupboards, diving onto beds from the top of wardrobes, pillow fights with their siblings, tearing from one area to the next screaming their heads off with parents in hot pursuit, what could be more relaxing? So...

My advice is, if you must go, get someone else to drive as you will need to be drunk!

Happy Stomping
